The National Association of State Offices of Minority Health (NASOMH) is an organization dedicated to protecting and promoting the health and well-being of racial and ethnic minority communities, tribal organizations and nations in all fifty (50) states and territories.

NASOMH will:

- Inform and advance the national discussion on minority health, cultural competence, and the elimination of racial and ethnic disparities in health and healthcare.
- Inform state and local governments of policies, rules and regulations to ensure capacity building, viability, and efficacy of State Offices of Minority Health.
- Implement, monitor and evaluate training, research, community outreach, information dissemination, practice and policy development to improve the health of racial and minority communities, tribal organizations and nations in all fifty (50) states and U.S. territories.

Guiding Principles:

- Eliminate Health and Health Care Disparities
- Capacity Building
- Empower Communities
- Accountability
